PESHAWAR: Pakistan Muslim League-N leader and member provincial assembly (MPA), Ikhtiar Wali Khan here Thursday said the long march of Pakistan Tahrir e Inaf (PTI) had been completely flopped as people keep distance from former prime minister Imran Khan's aimless agitation politics.

"Imran Niazi had claimed to bring two million people to Islamabad on Wednesday but even could not gathered a few thousand workers despite his nearly two months mass mobilization campaign, protest rallies and public gatherings in the country including KP where his party was in rule for the last nine years disappointed its residents," he told APP.

"The hopes of Niazi Sahib to collect two million people shattered after KP's people rejected his long march call and prefer to stay at homes, offices and business activities," he said.

"Imran has been unnerved after the lackluster response of his party workers from Malakand, Hazara, Peshawar divisions and southern districts of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa during the long march," he said.

Wali claimed that attacks on media houses and vans, police, putting trees on fire and killing of a police constable in Lahore had exposed PTI's leadership claims of peaceful long march.

He said PTI's long march had negative effects on the economy and added that people of Pakistan especially KP and Punjab provinces had rejected Imran's agitation. Wali said Imran's ill designs to spread anarchy and chaos had been thwarted and now he was hiding faces from the masses.

He said Imran's six days ultimatum for dissolution of national assembly and election date was childish as Pakistan was a democratic country and all decisions would be taken with consensus of political forces and allied parties.

Ikhtiar Wali accused Imran for misusing KP government's helicopter for personal gains, adding KP CM's helicopter was turned into a rickshaw. He urged NAB KP to take notice of misuse of KP Govt helicopter by Imran Khan.

He said the PTI Chief had deceived masses of KP in the name of change and religion and would face their wrath in the next general election.

The federal government had shown great political acumen and tolerance by allowing Imran Khan's long march to Islamabad, he maintained.

He said people would decide about the future government in Pakistan.

Wali said that if today's the illegal demands of Imran were accepted, then tomorrow he would likely demand appointment of his choice caretaker prime minister, chief election commissioner and other important portfolios. —APP

Review suggests Israeli fire killed Palestinian reporter Shireen

GAZA: Almost two weeks after the death of the veteran Palestinian-American reporter for Al Jazeera, a reconstruction by The Associated Press lends support to assertions from both Palestinian authorities and Abu Akleh's colleagues that the bullet that cut her down came from an Israeli gun.

Any conclusive answer is likely to prove elusive because of the severe distrust between the two sides, each of which is in sole possession of potentially crucial evidence.

Multiple videos and photos taken on the morning of May 11 show an Israeli convoy parked just up a narrow road from Abu Akleh, with a clear line of sight. They show the reporters and other bystanders in real time taking cover from bullets fired from the direction of the convoy. The only confirmed presence of Palestinian freedom fighters was on the other side of the convoy, some 300 metres away, mostly separated from Abu Akleh by buildings and walls. —AFP

Biden urges gun control after shooting at Texas school

WASHINGTON: "When in God's name are we going to stand up to the gun lobby?" US President Joe Biden asked his nation on Wednesday, hours after a teenage gunman killed at least 19 children and two teachers in an elementary school in Texas.

The powerful gun lobby in America has so far prevented all administrations from making strict gun control laws, although mass shootings at American schools continue to happen with regular intervals.

The 18-year-old gunman Salvador Ramos entered the Robb Elementary School in a small Texas town of Uvalde at 11:32am on Tuesday, barricaded himself inside a classroom and started shooting.

At 12:17pm, the school posted messages on social media, confirming that they had "an active shooter" inside the building. By 1:06pm, the local police announced "neutralising", the shooter, apparently killed when law-enforcement agents returned fire. Powerful lobby in US has prevented all administrations from making strict gun control laws

At 3pm, Texas Governor Greg Abbott identified the suspect, saying Ramos abandoned his vehicle and entered the school with a handgun and a rifle. By Wednesday afternoon, police had released victims' names — most of them between five and 10. The victims included eight-year-old Uzayah Garcia and Amerie Jo Garza, Makenna Lee Elrod, Xavier Javier Lopez, Jose Flores, Navaeh Brown, Annabell Guadalupe Rodriguez, and Ellie Lugo, all aged 10.

Amerie, a 4th-grader, spent her morning celebrating her appointment to the honour roll but less than two hours later, Ramos had a rifle pointed in her face, a local media report claimed. "You're going to die," he told Amerie Jo and other children. Amerie started to dial 911 but before she could make the call, Ramos killed her, the report added.

Soon after the governor's news conference, US television channels started showing live scenes from the school and the areas around it: One man walking away, sobbing into his phone "she is gone". A woman standing by herself, alternately crying, and yelling into her phone, shaking her fist, and stamping her feet. Another man telling reporters that his grandson, eight-year-old Uzayah Garcia, was among those killed. Later an Uvalde police officer told journalists Ramos shot his grandmother before driving to school. A mugshot circulating in the US media showed Ramos as a young man with brown hair, looking in front of him with an expressionless gaze.

According to US media reports, Ramos attended the town's high school, worked at a Wendy's in Uvalde where Ramos, "kept to himself mostly" and was "the quiet type". At Wendy's, he didn't really socialise with the other employees.

Meanwhile, Pope Francis on Wednesday said he was "heartbroken" over the shooting incident, AFP adds. "I am left heartbroken by the massacre in the elementary school in Texas," the Argentine pontiff said after his weekly general audience. "I pray for the children, for the adults killed and for their families. It is time to say enough to indiscriminate arms trafficking. Let us all commit to ensuring such tragedies can no longer

'Some progress' in talks with Iran, says Saudi FM

DUBAI: Saudi Arabia's foreign minister said on Tuesday that there had been some progress in talks with Iran but "not enough" and that the kingdom's hands remain outstretched to Tehran.

Saudi Arabia and Iran, which are locked in proxy conflicts across the Middle East, have held five rounds of talks hosted by Baghdad. "We have made some progress but not enough," Prince Faisal bin Farhan Al Saud told a World Economic Forum panel. Our hands are stretched out. "We continue to encourage our neighbours in Iran to lean into what can be a very, very important sea change in our region," he said, adding that a "new era of cooperation" in the region could deliver benefits for all.

Saudi Arabia and Iran, which severed ties in 2016, launched direct talks last year as global powers moved to salvage a 2015 nuclear pact with Iran, which Gulf Arab states had seen as flawed for not addressing regional security concerns. The nuclear talks have been on hold since March. Prince Faisal said if a deal is reached it would "be potentially a good thing if it's a good deal" and reiterated Riyadh's stance that Tehran's regional activities should be addressed. Asked whether
