

MY WORDS MY TALK...

Modernity of medicine, heart bypass possible with a small cut

Mudassar Qadeer

Recently, a historic heart bypass operation was performed in Pakistan which was completed by a cut without opening chest of the patient. This operation is of historical significance because I call this operation Sheikh Zayed. The treatment is being done in a private hospital where the fee for this operation is not just for a poor man but the fee for these operations in Sheikh Zayed is lowest according to the official calculation. In this regard, when I spoke to Dr. Aqeel Ahmed, Sheikh Zayed, incharge, Department of Cardiac Surgery, he said that this method of treatment has been in use all over the world since 1960, but it took some time for it to reach us. The second is considered as a specialty which requires a lot of training and today we are standing at the place where we are serving the people by learning this surgical procedure and training new people in this procedure. Arranged at a three-day conference of the Pakistan Society of Cardiovascular and Theoretical Surgery (Heart and chest Surgery).

Dr. Fayyaz Hussain Hashmi, a cardiologist from the United States of America, participated in the conference which was held at Sheikh Zayed Hospital the other day. Other medical experts including me also learned a lot from him. I would like to thank the Administrator Sheikh Zayed Dr. Akbar Hussain and the Chairman and Dean Sheikh Zayed Prof. Dr. Sabgha Zulfiqar for the facilities provided for the operations which made this conference a success.

Dr. Aqeel Ahmed in his talk further said that the treatment includes heart valve surgery including heart bypass, left side of the chest for heart bypass and small right side for valve surgery. A small hole is drilled after which the operation is performed with the help of new gadgets. On this occasion, I told Dr. Aqeel that the traditional bypass takes more than four hours. How much time is required for this operation which He said that the duration of this operation can be up to 4 hours in which anesthesia doctors take one hour while our work is only one hour and the rest of the time is spent in preparation after the operation and before the operation.

The most important thing about this operation is that first of all the patient does not need blood in it. Dr. Aqeel said that last night we performed a bypass operation on a girl and in the morning when I went to see her I asked her if you got out of bed then she said sister did not let me get out because your bypass The operation has been done. Lie down now but I told my sister that I have to have the operation now because I am not feeling any pain. I feel pain after the operation. No. The patient stays in the ward for 3 days and shifts home and after a week he is able to do his job no matter how hard his work demands. Dr. Aqeel Ahmed's talk shows that thanks to this modern heart bypass surgery, the recovery rate of the patient is faster and in a few days, a person is able to carry out his daily routine. On the occasion, he also expressed that we are determined to move towards heart transplant in Sheikh Zayed Hospital in the coming days and play our role in this regard. Heart transplant is a difficult and complex process but we have taken an oath to serve humanity and we strive to achieve this goal and play our role in building and developing the country.

Sensitization workshop for conduct of 7th Population and Housing Census

Census is an important National activity whose success depends on collaborating efforts of all stakeholders. To gain confidence of stakeholders their understanding and involvement in the process, from planning of this gigantic exercise till finalization of results and Data Dissemination is important. Provinces are important stakeholders in Census process as they are directly involved in data collection, execution, and monitoring of the entire activity. Therefore, Pakistan Bureau of Statistics (PBS) has initiated a series of Sensitization Workshops with Chief Secretaries, relevant Secretaries, and func-tionaries at Provincial levels. This exercise will bring more clarity and ownership of provinces in the process of the census. Muhammad Sarwar Gondal, in his presentation apprised the participants about the recommendations of the Census Advisory Committee for the conduct of the 7th Population & Housing Census-2022. Moreover, he included that as per the decision of CCI, PBS is going to conduct Census after five years' intervals, for the first time, with the use of the latest tools and technologies by adopting the best international practices with the high aim to fetch improved quality of

FBR returns Rs1.9 billion of Naulong Dam to Wapda

ISLAMABAD: The Federal Board of Revenue (FBR) has released Rs1.916 billion of Naulong Dam to Water and Power Development Authority (Wapda) on the direction of the National Assembly's Standing Committee on Water Resources.

The National Assembly Standing Committee on Water Resources some 11 months ago asked the Federal Board of Revenue (FBR) to pay Rs1.916 million deducted from the account of Naulong Dam. Previously, it was informed to the standing committee that the government granted Rs1.916 million to WAPDA during the budget session 2018-19 for construction of Naulong Dam. But before the start of construction of the Dam, FBR took away Rs1916 million from the account of Naulong Dam. Hence, the construction of dam could not be started. The FBR was of the view that they have receivable against WAPDA. So, they have recovered their receivables. The standing committee took serious notice of it and directed. —AFP

Violence on the rise in India-occupied Kashmir after Yasin Malik's sentence

SRINAGAR: Indian forces killed six fighters in occupied Kashmir over the past 24 hours while the fighters shot dead a female TV performer and a police officer, officials said on Thursday, following the conviction of the region's best-known leader.

A New Delhi court on Wednesday ordered life in jail for Yasin Malik for funding "terrorist" activities and on several other counts. The sentencing prompted warnings from politicians that it would promote alienation in the Muslim-majority region. Shops and businesses in India-held Kashmir remained closed for a second day of protests against the verdict, while police detained 10 people for throwing stones and for sloganeering outside Yasin Malik's residence.

"Three militants each of Jaish-e-Mohammad and Lashkar-e-Taiba were killed in two separate gun battles in [occupied] Kashmir since yesterday," Kashmir police chief Vijay Kumar said, referring to the two organisations. "We have also lost a cop in one of the operations."

Kumar said Kashmiri fighters had shot dead 35-year-old television and social-media performer Amreen Bhat on Wednesday evening. They have allegedly killed at least 12 people, mostly police, in occupied Kashmir this year. One of the dead was a Kashmiri Hindu government employee, worrying the disputed region's tiny minority community.

More than 3,400 Hindus from occupied Kashmir have been given government jobs there in recent years, as Prime Minister Narendra Modi's government tries to lure them back into the region after attacks forced them to flee during the 1990s. But Hindus have been holding street protests demanding relocation out of held Kashmir.

"We are not secure here," Amit, a protesting Hindu government employee, said. "Our colleague was shot dead in his office. Our demand is relocation outside Kashmir, because every so often there is a targeted killing." Indian forces have already stepped up their operations, killing 78 fighters this year, according to the administration of held Kashmir. For the whole of last year, 193 were killed, while 232 were shot dead in 2020. Meanwhile, representatives of Pakistan and India got into a fresh verbal duel in the UN Security Council on Wednesday after Pakistan's Ambassador Munir Akram castigated New Delhi's continued oppression in occupied Kashmir, drawing attention to the life sentence awarded to Kashmiri leader Yasin Malik by an Indian court.

Qasim Aziz Butt, who represented Pakistan, rejected India's claim about Jammu and Kashmir being its integral part, saying it was a disputed territory, as per all United Nations maps and official documents.

The Pakistani representative accused India of being one of the world's largest purveyors of state terrorism, notably against each of its neighbours, in-

Taliban step up coal exports to boost rev-and economic crisis.

The hardline Islamist movement is now banking on its natural resources to survive. Landlocked Afghanistan has large mineral and fossil fuel deposits, most of them untapped. "Coal exports have increased because we have paved the way for traders," said finance ministry spokesman Ahmad Wali Haqmal.

He said officials had collected around 3 billion

Afghanis ($33.80 million) in customs revenue on more than 16 billion Afghanis worth of coal exports in the last six months. As well as higher sales, tax on coal exports was last week increased to 30pc from 20pc, according to an official letter, the contents of which were confirmed by Haqmal.

The Taliban announced their first annual budget earlier this month, saying they would depend solely on local revenue — a big task for a country dependent on foreign assistance for the last two decades.

Haqmal said exports and revenues were far higher than under the last government, which was ousted as the Taliban swept to power after US-led foreign forces withdrew from Afghanistan last year.

Khan Jan Alokozi, an official at the Afghanistan Chamber of Commerce and Investment (ACCI) said that he believed revenues had also increased because the Taliban had eliminated some corruption. —AFP
